Pope Francis' October Intention:

The Laity's Mission in the Church

We pray that by the virtue of baptism, the laity, especially women, may participate more in areas of responsibility in the Church.

Conference Reflection: from Annette Debevec

My sense as we were praying at the very beginning of the conference was this: That time and place are of no importance spiritually (though of course they govern us here on earth) and that the Holy Spirit continually flows through barriers of time and space. Jesus Christ is present and unites us to Himself and to the other parts of His Body across miles and times and across earth and heaven. He reigns as King in our homes, in the gathering, in every place He is honored. And so we are truly one Body.

After the two sessions, this word became more focused toward what God is asking of me. He is telling me that each one of us MATTERS to Him and are vital to the battle that we are engaged in. Sometimes I can be deceived into thinking that the Lord is done with me, He has no more use for me, my strength is spent, I messed up, or that what I do doesn't make a difference in the big picture of what is going on in the world. But it's important that this kind of thinking is unmasked as a lie, because no matter where we are or what we can or can't physically do, each one of us is a vital part of the Body of Christ and is greatly needed to do our part in fighting the battle. It's a spiritual battle, so I personally feel called to pray more, to fast more, to sacrifice more, and to intentionally offer all that happens in each day to Mary to bring to Jesus. St. Therese speaks of her Little Way, and the Fatima children shared their lunches and offered their rosaries. God is calling humble souls to fight a big battle in little daily ways.
